Dar Kawa, an Invitation to Let Go

Push open the door of Dar Kawa and you will be directly enveloped by a soothing and warm atmosphere that transports you. The 17th century house was expertly restored in 1999 by Quentin Wilbaux - a connoisseur of the medina. Under the guidance of proprietor Valerie Barkowski, Dar Kawa continues to reveal its ever-charming personality. Creative director, designer, stylist, and an avid traveler, Valérie adorned the riad with her distinct touch, one faithful to fine craftsmanship and respectful of traditions. At once elegant and eccentric, Dar Kawa's décor and arrangements change regularly with Valerie's inspirations.

For guests, Dar Kawa offers a large central patio where orange trees offer fresh shade; 4 large bedrooms distinctly furnished, with private bathrooms; a rooftop terrace where you can sip a mint tea while gazing at the sun as it sets over the Medina. The riad also has its own rooftop spa, for a massage that is often well-appreciated after a long day strolling through the souks.

Dar Kawa feels like home, because it is. Here you will find Valerie's refined textiles and objects filled with souls and stories – as they are also fellow travelers. Not a single detail has been neglected, and thought goes into every fold and corner of Dar Kawa. Memories of a creative past and present coexist here, as evident in the displayed paintings and photographs by artists of the Sahart Foundation, who once made their way through.

The spirit of Dar Kawa also resides in the generous staff who have been with Valerie since the beginning of the adventure: Abdelhadi with his warm hospitality, Saïda and her incomparable couscous, and Laaziza always taking care of everything.

Dar Kawa is more than a boutique hotel. It's a crush and cocoon to recharge your batteries while sharing unforgettable moments with friends.
